

GREGOR CZAYKOWSKI

Gregor Czaykowski is an ongoing webcomic artist who 'wants to be rich and famous' some day. Gregor studied a graduate diploma in Game Design at Media Design School before realizing his passion lied elsewhere.

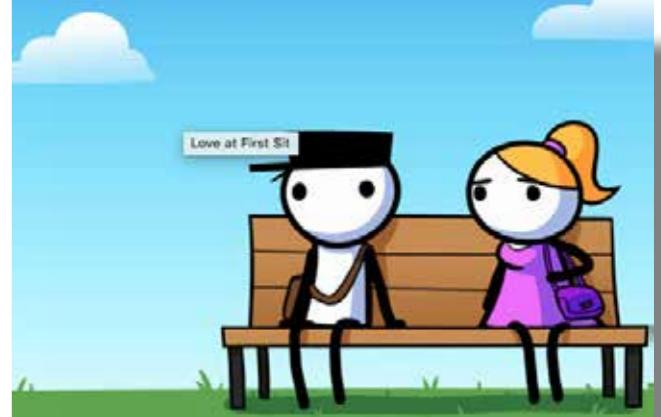

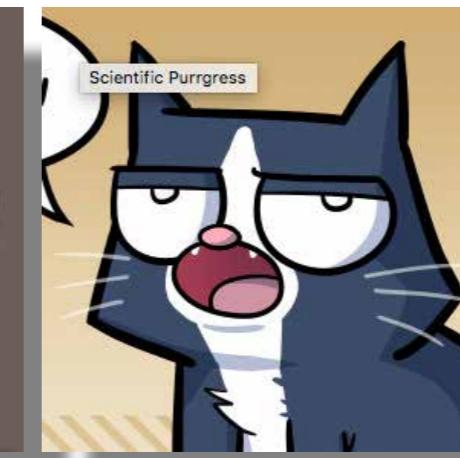

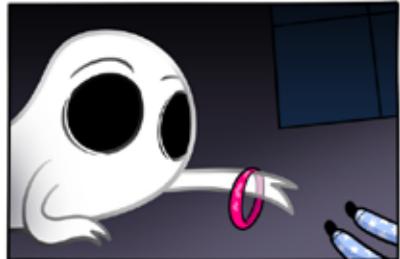

He was born in Dubai to Austrian parents and is currently living in Auckland. At the moment his full-time job is his webcomic 'Loading Artist' which has gained a lot of popularity in recent years. He has also previously worked at Gameloft as lead UI designer for several iOS games before switching careers.

He has always been an artistic person from a young age, starting with small doodles in his textbooks inspired from older comics like 'Garfield'. Nowadays he has cited other popular webcomics like Cyanide and Happiness as inspiration for his work.

When Gregor was younger he was split between wanting to become a 3D or 2D concept artist, and creating comics. Later he decided to pursue an education in game design and worked in the field creating UI's for mobile games for 4 years. Gregor then changed his career path due to creative boredom and because he saw a potential future working on 'Loading Artist' full time as it had garnered a lot of attention in recent times. He currently produces a comic strip every week for 'Loading Artist' and is very happy to make a living following his passion and creating things he loves.

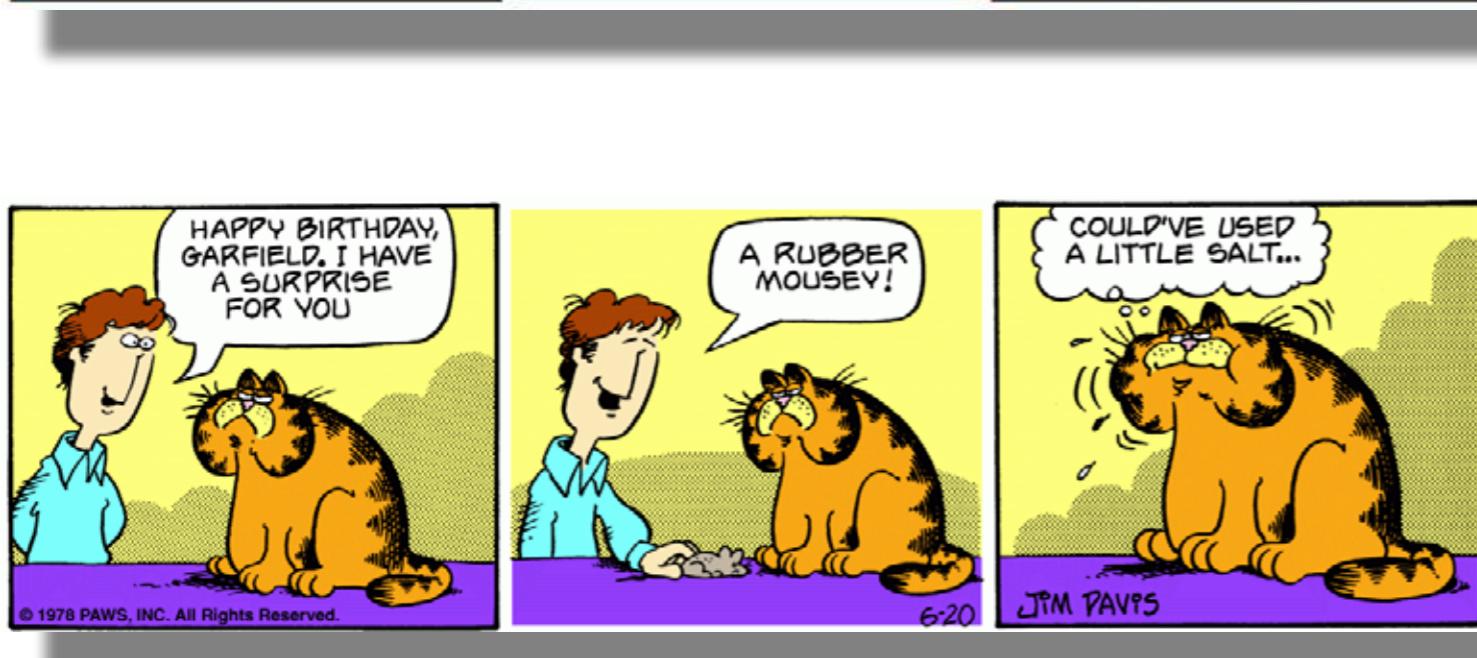

MOOD BOARD, GREGOR'S WORK

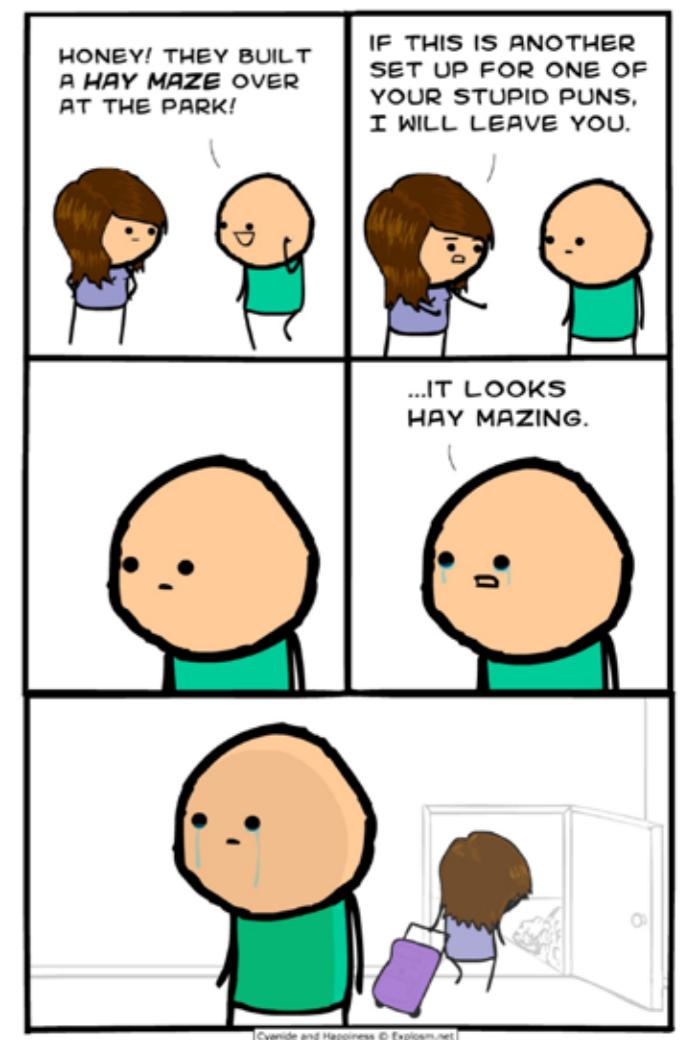

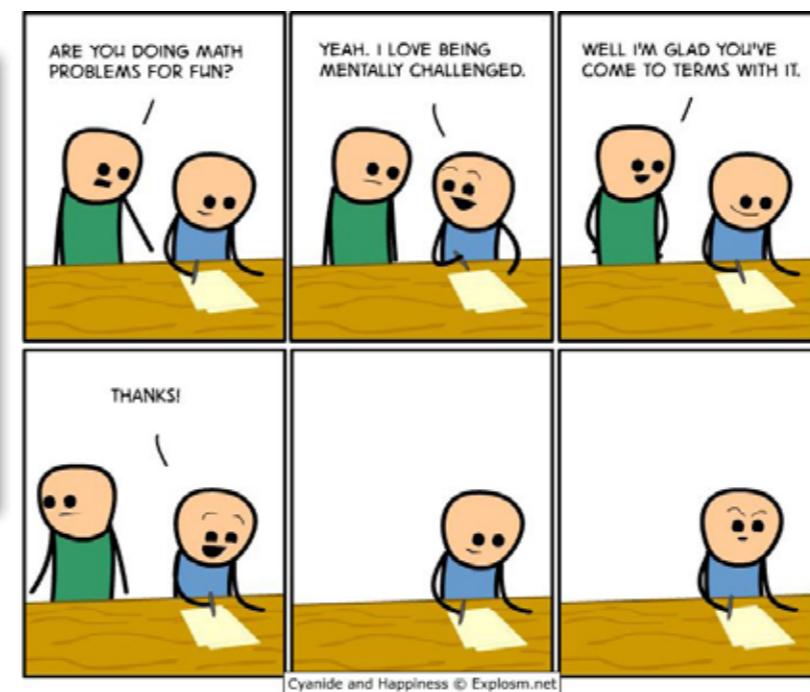

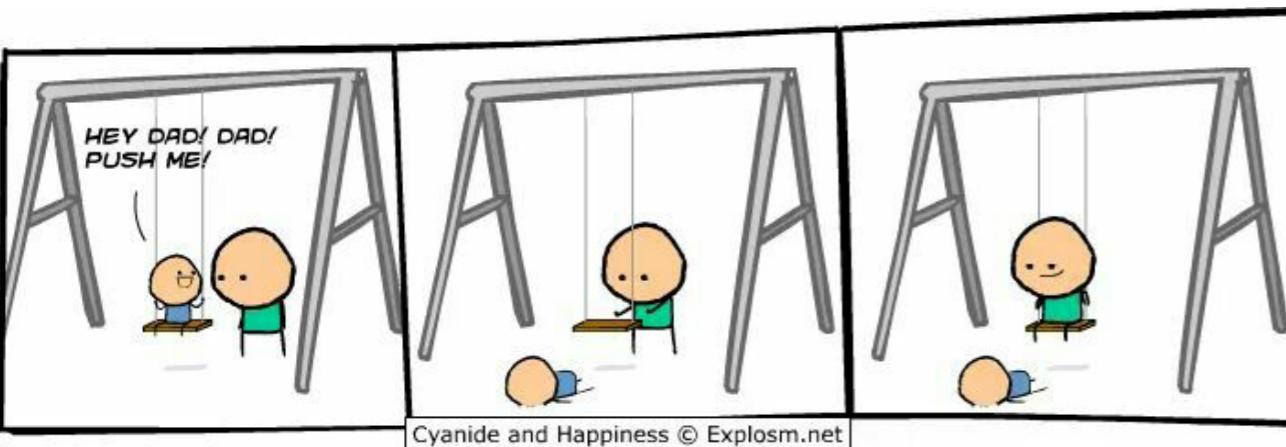

MOOD BOARD, GREGOR'S INSPIRATION 1

Gregor Czaykowski has mentioned that Garfield was one of the first things to inspire him into creating comics. While the art style is not very similar, the format of the comic strips do share similarities

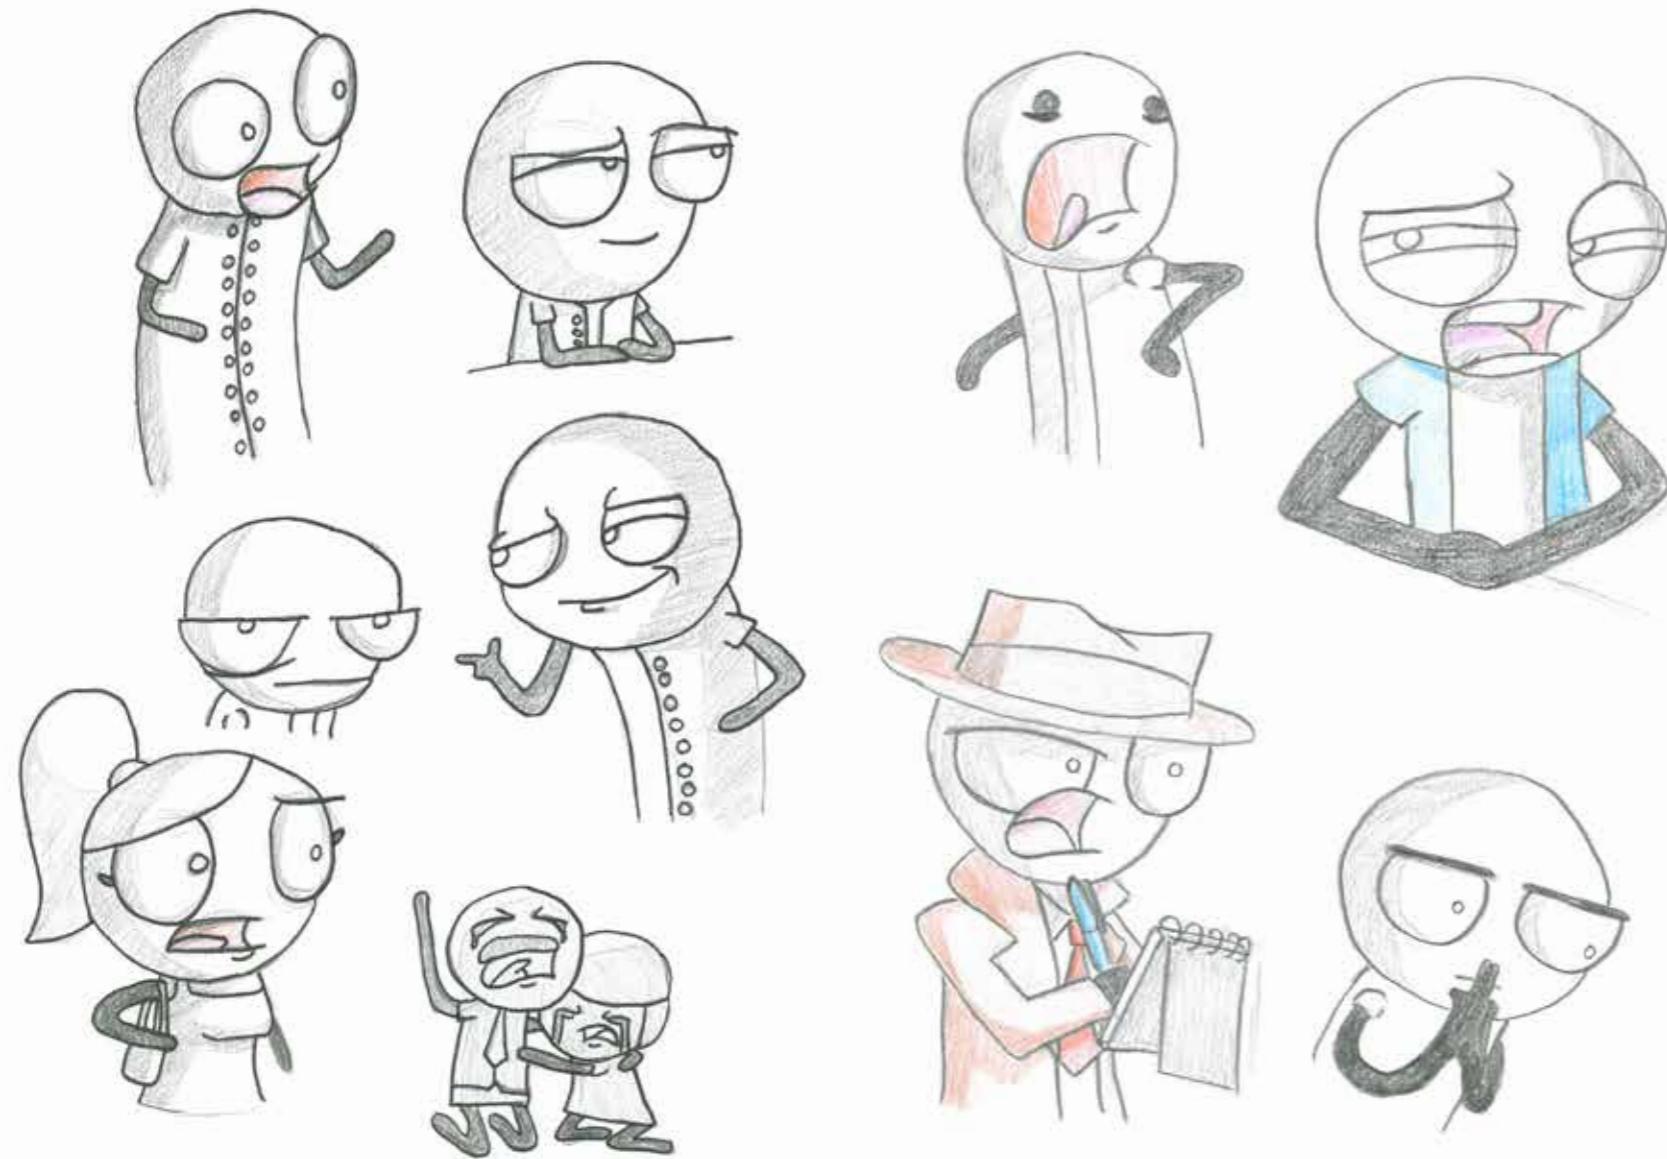

MOOD BOARD, GREGOR'S INSPIRATION 2

Cyanide and Happiness is a similar webcomic that Gregor Czaykowski has said that he wished he was a part of.

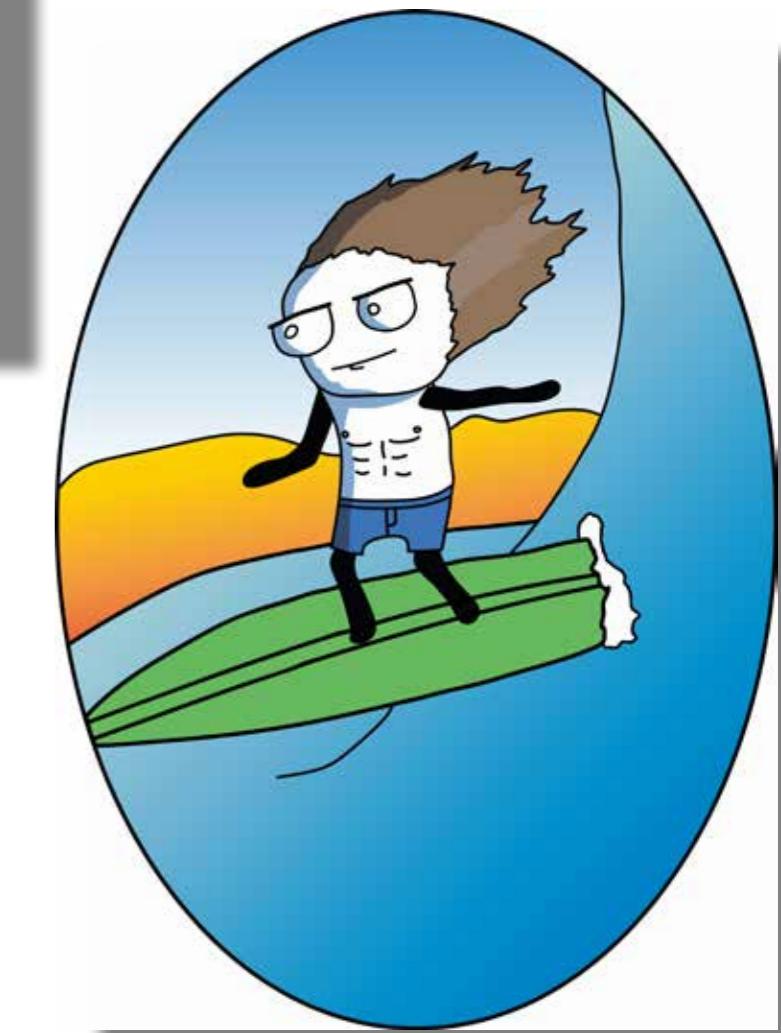

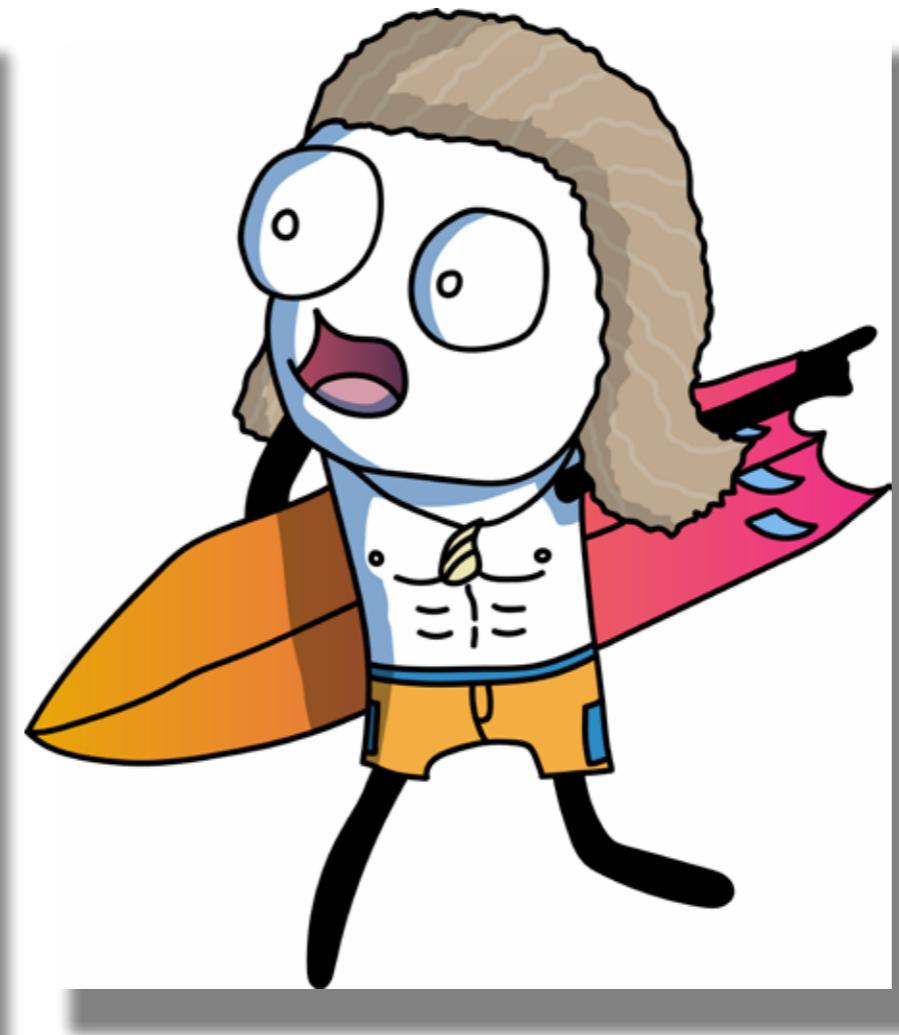

BOOK SKETCHES

1. Victim about to be kill
2 found by dett

SURFER IDEA

Early on I played with the idea of having a comic about surfers trying to catch the biggest wave, but I scrapped this idea in favor of my kid elevator comic.

ELEVATOR IDEA

I started to develop the idea of a child getting arrested for doing something that wholly does not warrant it. What I came up with was a kid walking into an elevator and pushing all the buttons resulting in him getting arrested. I felt this was light-hearted and subverts expectations in the same way that Gregor does.

BACKSTORY

Timmy:

Timmy is your average 8-year-old. He likes video games, chocolate, and sweets, normal kid stuff. But more importantly, he loves mischief.

Toilet papering houses, filling locks with super glue, throwing rocks through windows, all sorts of devilish things. So far he has had no one catch him in the act of being a troublemaker, but how long can he stay unpunished?

Quick facts

- 8 years old
- 5 feet tall
- Likes candy
- Has blond hair
- Favorite music is rap

Officer Marcus:

Marcus is a straight edge cop who follows the book and gets things done. He enjoys cruising around in his car, answering calls to help and catching troublemakers in the act. He loves coffee and doughnuts, so much so it is said he can down a whole coffee and box of doughnuts in under a minute.

Quick facts

- 42 years old
- 6 foot 2
- Loves doughnuts
 - Is bald
 - Survives on coffee
- Lives for putting away criminals
 - Has a bad back
 - Is a really good driver

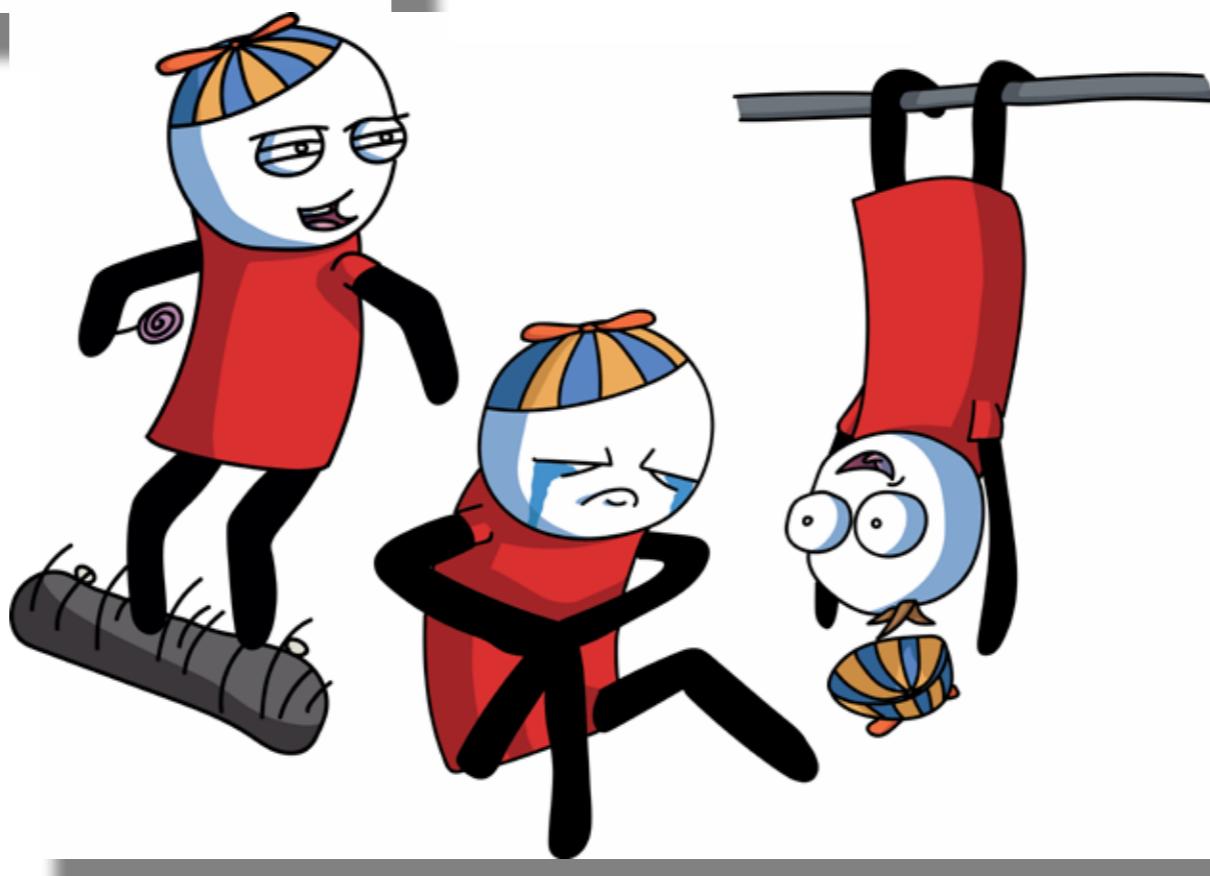

Constable Phil:

Phil is a loose cannon. He has been demoted down to constable many times. He wears sunglasses at all times, even at night indoors. No one has ever seen his eyes. He's outspoken, reckless and has a tendency to circumvent rules to bring criminals to justice.

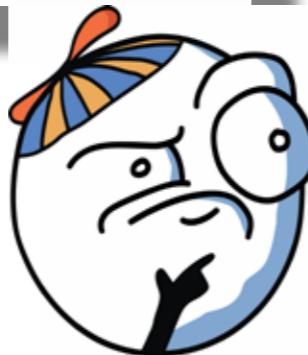

Quick facts

- 28 years old
- 6 feet tall
- Adrenalin junkie
- Always wears sunglasses

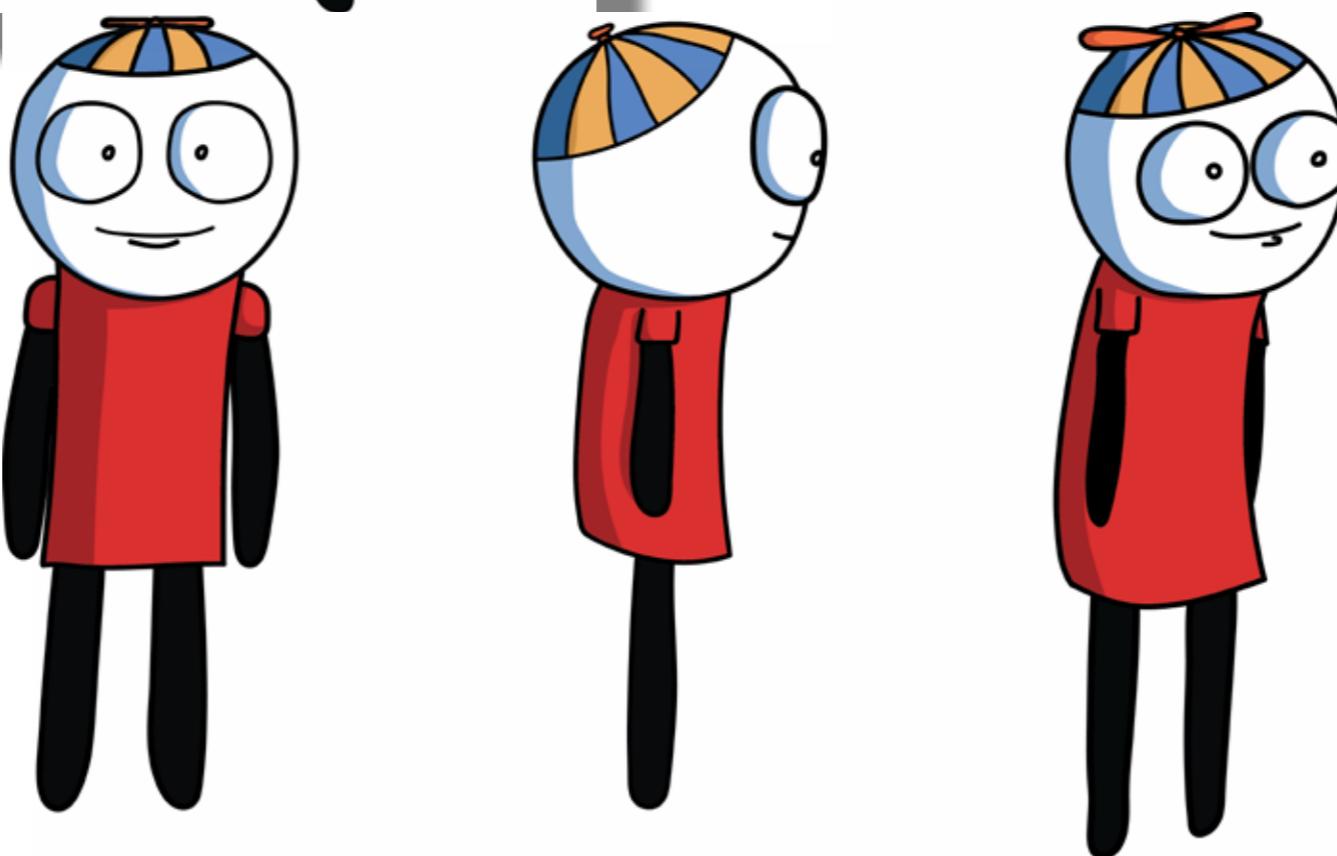

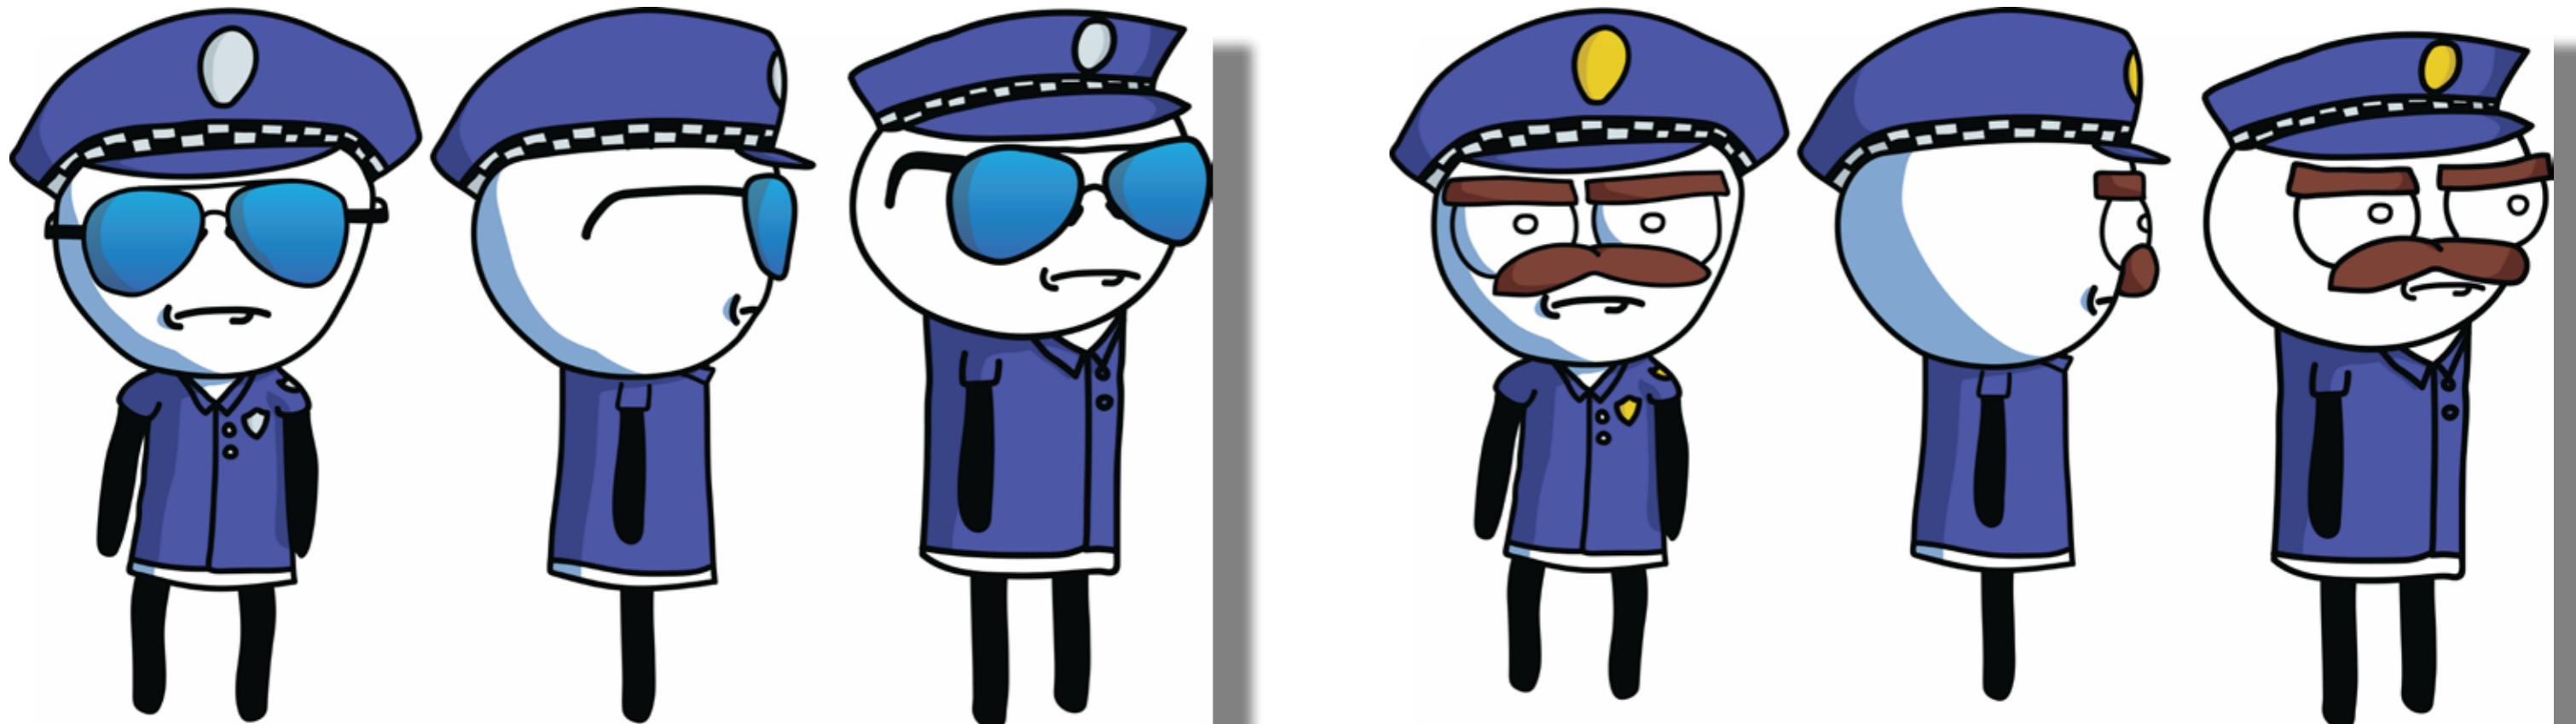

KEY POSES

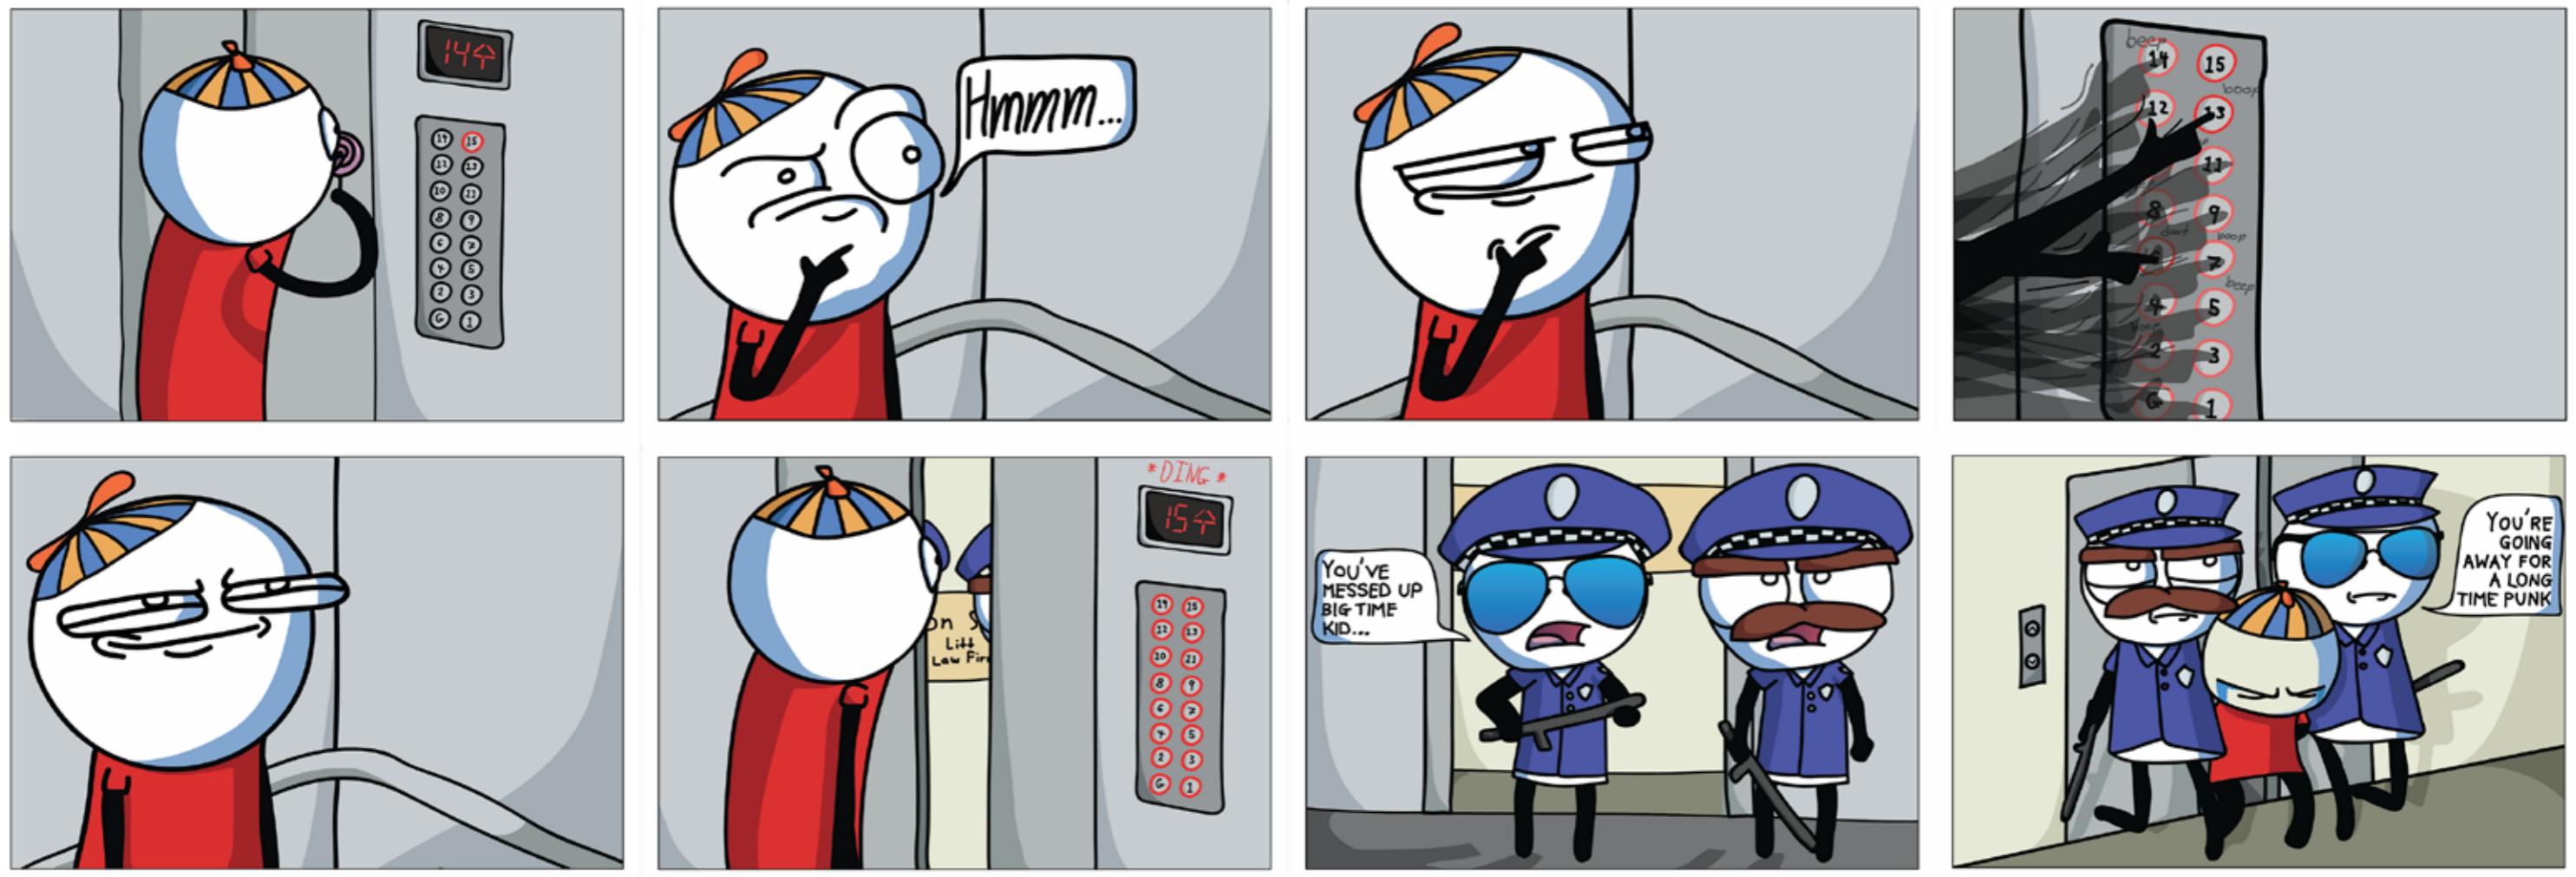

FACIAL EXPRESSIONS

ORTHOGRAPHICS

FINAL

Side note, my final comic strip is vertical, this version is only horizontal so that it can fit in the pdf